There is nothing better than XM Radio. It is so much clearer, than FM Radio. It is also commercial free. As a paying customer, this is exactly what I want. This is what I pay for. How typical it is for our U.S. government to suggest that they know what is good for us. Why is it, when there is something that I want, and I pay for, that the government feels its need to get involved? The government makes foolish, immoral, and wasteful decisions with my tax dollars everyday, without my say. Don't touch my XM Radio. It is nice to be able to get a traffic and weather update without a half hours worth of commercials included. Again, this is what I pay for, and FM Radio gets plenty of money from sponsorors, and advertising firms. The defference is I pay for what I want, instead of having it dictated to me. This overly typical of our capitalist society. Somebody is apparently complaining about not making enough money again.
